DRINK YOUR VITAMINS

Organic Vitamin C comes from Organic Amla fruit, also known as Indian gooseberries, which are said to be natural immune boosters as they contain a powerful cocktail of vitamin C and A, polyphenols, alkaloids, and flavonoids such as quercetin and kaempferol. According to a study published in the International Journal of Pharmaceutics, Amla has potent antibacterial and anti-inflammatory properties. Amla juice, in Ayurveda, is often used to increase the white blood cells in the body, which are the main line of defense for the immune system.

Vitamin B1, thiamin, or thiamine, enables the body to use carbohydrates as energy. It is said to be essential for glucose metabolism, and known to play a key role in nerve, muscle, and heart function.

Entire books have been written on the therapeutic uses of Vitamin B6; it has been used to treat more than 100 health conditions. These cover a wide range of physical and psychological disorders, from heart disease to mental depression to kidney stones to memory loss.

Organic Vegan Vitamin D3 (VegD3®) is the only pure plant-based Vitamin D3 that can be used as a 1:1 replacement for animal sourced D3. From a sustainable, organic algae source, it offers superior purity and quality to lanolin D3. The fully traceable supply chain is pesticide, protein and heavy metal compliant. It is Vegan Society approved and is the only 100% pure crystal Cholecalciferol (Vitamin D3) for Vegans in organic form.

WINNING COMBINATION

Our Endocrine System is the control center our bodies. When stressed, anxious or fear stricken, our system is compromised causing hormone imbalance and known to substantially lower immunity levels. Cannabinoids have long been known to help regulate this hormonal balance. Coupled with powerful plant-based HEMP CBD with vital nutrients such as Vitamin C, Vitamin B-Complex and Vitamin D3, we have a powerful way to support a healthier Endocannabinoid System.
